LIGHT WEIGHT GOLD COINS.

the great southern route, and especially during the fall and winter months, by reason of the delightful climate and many places of interest through which it passes, affords a more genuinely pleasurable trip than any other route. Pullman sleepers and free family sleepers run through with but one change. $20 round trip, good six months, and choice of routes returning, with stop over privileges at any point. Cheap one way excursions same dates and same trains. An employe of this company accompanies all of ex-Governor Leon Abbett, of New Jerthat $5 was always $5, he replied: "Not if it is light weight. Let me tell you a story of my experience with a $5 gold piece. Mind you, it was a gold pieceme by a client, with a number of other the cash for me and returned with this piece among others. The banks pay them out, but they don't take them in when they know it, as I found out later. There is a restaurant near my place of business where I have little business transactions occasionally with the prowe can't pass them.' I was staggered. I thought a $5 gold piece was good for something for its intrinsic value at least. But after satisfying myself that it was light weight, I put it back into my pocket and paid the bill out of other the passing qualities of the coin once more, so I tried it at the cigar store on my way up Broadway. It was no go. Then I sallied into the Park National for a young and gentle horse. Call at 913 bank. I told the cashier frankly that I North Lawrence. understood the coin to be light weight, and asked him to give me its value. 'Wo can't do anything with it,' said he. But he suggested that I might be relieved at the sub-trensury. By this time I was somewhat mad, and I determined to follow that $5 gold piece to some kind of a resting place if it took all day. At the treasury there was less encouragement than any place I had yet entered. They said they could not exchange it or re-deem it or do anything with it. This struck me as a strange condition of A certain line that runs less than half way between Wichita and St. Louis by a specially worded advertisement is eadcavoring to convince the traveling public that it is now running trains between Wichita and St. Louis in something like twelve hours' time; also that its trains are making that distance three hours in advance of all competing lines. The traveler who is tricked into taking that line by reading the announcement, thinking that he will enjoy a ride upon this fast limited, will afterwards learn that he might have saved more than two hours extra travel by gold.

Strick in a structure things. As I went along Nassau street things. As I went along Nassau street in a brown study my eye happened to light on the sign of an office on John street. There is an announcement there that old gold will be bought. I walked in and held out the coin. 'It's short weight,' was all I said. 'So I see,' said the man in attendance, as he held it in his hand. 'What can you do with it?' I asked. 'Melt it,' was his reply. He gave me $4.70 for it, the value of the gold.

"Curiosity possessed me to know what would be done with it. He said the gold would be used for manufacturing purposes. Then it struck me that there is somewhere on the statute books an iron clad law that no United States coin shall be melted up for manufacturing purposes under heavy penalties. I looked the law up. There it is, an old law, very old, but I believe still in force. If I am correct about it, do you see the situation? The government issues a gold coin. It says it shall be of such a weight, but it must necessarily get worn and abraded in constant circulation. Then it says it shall not be redeemable in any way, shall become worthless in circula-tion because it is not redeemable, and yet shall not be converted into anything else. My gold piece bore date of 1847. I think on the whole I prefer greenbacks to coin, especially short weight coin."-

I don't know at what bank he procured it, but I know that he went to some bank to get prietor or the man behind the counter. During the day this $5 gold piece went over that counter.
